

an independent nonprofit | December 18, 2008

We depend on your donations. Consider joining us today.

City's New Reign

The report is recommending that the city of San Diego move toward creating a nonprofit corporation to take over some of the fundraising and administrative functions of Balboa Park.

Creating a nonprofit to take over some of the functions of Balboa Park has percolated for a few years. The new report by the city's task force committee says the park will face increased competition for city funding, thus leaving too little money to provide the park with more services. It says a new nonprofit could provide more cohesive long-term planning and better coordinate fundraising.

The report is recommending the city create a task force to further study the issue, with the idea that it would ultimately lead to the creation of a new entity. Committee members are slated to adopt the report tonight at a 5:30 p.m. meeting at the War Memorial Building.

December 18, 2008 1:58 PM PST